Admiral Stansfield Turner
Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D. C. 20505

Dear Admiral Turner:

I was very much interested, as were my fellow members of The Business Council, in your clear and forthright presentation at our meeting in Washington last week. Your remarks were exceptionally well received.

I mentioned to you my opinion that the CIA's report last year on the world steel industry represented, in the main, a re-ploughing of ground and data which had previously been carefully studied by a number of groups--official and otherwise. Among the former are the Council on Wage and Price Stability and, more lately, the Federal Trade Commission. Among the non-official groups are the International Iron and Steel Institute (of which I have been serving as chairman) and Arthur D. Little, Inc.

There would be very little to be served, at this point, in discussing how these reports differ in viewpoint or purpose. I fully understand that world steel supply is an intelligence matter on which the CIA will wish to be fully informed. I question only whether it is helpful to overall considerations to publish such reports.

My more important purpose in mentioning this matter to you, and in this follow-up letter, is to assure you of our desire, in the American steel industry, to cooperate with the CIA in any way you may desire in keeping abreast of developments in world steel--technology, basic data, trade patterns, and the like. I am sure all or any of us will respond to you in any way that you may feel, in the future, can be helpful to you.

With all good wishes, I am

Sincerely,

George A. Stinson
